

IN THE SPECIFICATION:

Please add the following new paragraph between existing paragraphs [0033] and [0034], and renumber existing paragraph [0034] to [0035]:

What Page ? Spec has not been entered

 [0034] Another embodiment of the invention includes the previously discussed gear selection device for selecting a driving position desired by the driver, having a rest position to which the device automatically returns after the driver selects the desired driving position. As shown in Fig. 1, gear selection device 32 provides a driving position input to the transmission control 16. Alternatively, the driving position input may be indirectly routed from gear selection device 32 to transmission control 16, for example, through bus 18.